

sensation, better bladder control, and more intense orgasms.

The second piece is Bremelanotide – PT-141, the painless Hollywood “Sex Shot” known as “female Viagra®” and popularized by celebrities like Suzanne Somers. She and her 83-year-old husband have publicly praised it for turbocharging their libido and sex drive. In fact, it’s proven to dramatically increase the chance of a woman achieving at least one sexually gratifying, explosive orgasm. “Our two-part treatment plan helps women regain their sex drives, physical performance, and ability to orgasm in explosive fashion,” Dr. Campbell says.

While traditional sexual health treatments may not work for people with common health problems, Doctor’s Medical Clinic is different. “We treat men of all ages, regardless of medical history,” says Dr. Mireku-Boateng. “No matter if you have high blood pressure, heart disease, diabetes, weight problems, waning sexual desire, or even prostate cancer, our team of medical doctors will design a personalized treatment to work for you.”

Doctors on a Mission

Not every physician understands the life-changing power of a healthy, active sex life that stretches into the golden years, but Dr. Mireku-Boateng and Dr. Campbell do. “Its benefits extend far beyond the pleasure of the moment, even helping to add both quality and length to one’s life,” says Dr. Campbell.

The two have made innovative sexual health therapies the focus of their long, impressive careers. Dr. Campbell, a licensed physician since 1959, was a clinical professor at UCLA and Department Chief at U.S. Army Hospital in Ft. Chaffee, Arkansas. He had his own OB-GYN practice for 37 years and is a trained sexual dysfunction counselor for couples. Dr. Mireku-Boateng has treated tens of thousands of men and women all over the United States for diverse sexual issues. And he was at the legendary Urological Society Summit lecture given by Dr. Giles Brindley in 1983, when Brindley dramatically announced the first ever prescription medication to treat erectile dysfunction.

Dr. Everett O. Campbell, M.D. graduated from University of Michigan Medical School; OB-GYN Dept. Chief, US Army Hospital Fort Chaffee, Arkansas Private Practice; Clinical Instructor & Professor UCLA; Author and trained sexual dysfunction counselor in his practice for couples with health & sexual dysfunction issues. Now retired from active medical practice and dedicated to helping men achieve effective treatment for ED.

Plenty has changed over the last 40 years, but the physicians and administrative team behind Doctor’s Medical Clinic have never wavered in their decades-long commitment to bringing effective sexual health treatments to patients all over the world. No matter where patients live or what’s in their medical history, Doctor’s Medical Clinic and its partnering clinics can now help men and women get their sex life back.

Sex Stats in the Senior Set

- Only 43% of older women and 31% of older men are satisfied with their sex lives, despite the fact that the majority are interested in sex.*
- Just 17% of unsatisfied adults have consulted a doctor about sexual problems.*
- Boomers are uncomfortable bringing up sexual difficulties with their doctors, and doctors are reluctant to ask patients over 50 about their sexual health.
- Boomers and seniors are the fastest growing demographic of online dating and desire sexual satisfaction in their encore adulthood, the third act of their lives.

According to University of Michigan/AARP National Poll on Healthy Aging*

According to Psychology Today*

